

SKRYDLOFF'S RECEPTION PICTURES AND FLOWERS

Given to the Russian Admiral Who is Expected to Bring Success to the Czar's Fleet—Streets of St. Petersburg Were Thronged—The Admiral Embraced a Small Girl Who Presented Him With a Bouquet.

St. Petersburg, April 19.—Vice Admiral Skrydloff arrived here to-day on his way to the far east, where he will take command of the Russian fleet at Port Arthur. The admiral was accorded an enthusiastic reception by the people who thronged the streets.

The vast Znamenskaya square, opposite the Nicholas railroad station, was black with people and the police guarding the platform were unable to cope with the crowds, who broke through the cordon and rushed toward the train. There were repeated outbursts of enthusiastic cheers as the admiral left the car, and from the bareheaded through a peasant stepped out and presented Skrydloff with a copy of a picture, entitled "The Holy Virgin of Jop to the afflicted," which is reputed to have miraculous power. The peasant also presented the admiral with consecrated bread, telling Skrydloff that he saluted him in the name of the masses of the Russian people, all of whose hopes depended on him as the hero of the Russo-Turkish war.

"The people are convinced," added the spokesman, "that Admiral Skrydloff will justify the hopes of the emperor and the fatherland, and like the Virgin whose picture has just been given him will bring joy, and that soon, to a people now afflicted."

The admiral, who was visibly affected, took the picture, declaring that he accepted it as a happy presage and adding that he would not part with the picture throughout the campaign and that he would put all his faith in God.

A representative of the middle classes presented the admiral with a picture of St. Theodosius, the miracle worker of Czerniakoff.

The admiral then entered a carriage and drove off, followed by deafening shouts of "Long live Skrydloff!"

On arrival at his hotel a little girl presented the admiral with a bouquet, hailing Skrydloff as the "supreme commander of my brothers who are serving the navy in the far east."

"God help you," said the child, "in all your paths and heaven grant that good fortune attend you always during the war, for the glory of our dear country."

The admiral embraced the girl and the action brought out salves of cheers.

Addressing the newspapermen the admiral declared he was deeply sensible of the kindness shown him.

Subsequently Skrydloff called on the Grand Duke Alexis, high admiral, and on Vice Admiral Avellan, chief of the admiralty. To-morrow Admiral Skrydloff will be received in audience by the emperor and empress. Probably he will return to Sebastopol Saturday to formally hand over the Black sea fleet to his successor.

Shanghai, April 19 (Noon).—Authentic advices from Seoul dated the 12th instant declare that the Japanese are in complete control of Korea, and that the Russian scouting parties have retired across the Yalu before the Japanese, who occupied Wiju practically without resistance. The Japanese army is divided into two forces, one for expeditionary purposes and the other for occupation. The former, numbering 45,000, is advancing to the Yalu, and the latter, consisting of 12,000 reserves, is making far sighted communication arrangements with the headquarters at Seoul, where there is a garrison of 4,000. The headquarters of the transport service is at Chemulpo. Railroad building and road grading are progressing rapidly. The fortification of Kojedo Island at the mouth of Masumpo harbor, which protects the southern terminus of overland communication, also guards the passage to Vladivostok and Port Arthur through the Broughton strait. Forty transport ships are being dispatched to have landed part of their forces at Takushan and it is the evident intention to disembark a second army at Yungampo preparatory to forcing the Yalu.

St. Petersburg, April 19.—The population of Vladivostok is in want of the most necessary kinds of provisions, and in consequence of flooded rivers which interrupt communications, it is impossible to furnish them supplies. There is also a scarcity of money. Many inhabitants, particularly the women and children, are leaving the city, abandoning their property which they are unable to sell. Half of the houses in Vladivostok are empty and the civilian population is already reduced to 5,000.

Isoo Yang, April 19.—A number of important skirmishes are reported along the Yalu river. Six Japanese soldiers were killed by Russian scouts on April 16. Firing was heard on April 18, but the result of the engagement is unknown.

A QUIET ELECTION. New Haven, April 19.—The city and town election to-day was entirely quiet, a general lack of interest being shown by a light vote. The balloting was for aldermen in eight of the fifteen wards and for town selectmen and constables. Efforts of the rival party organizations to carry nine of the eight wards furnished the only interesting feature of the day.

DECORATORS STRIKE. Montreal, April 19.—Nine hundred painters and decorators went on strike to-day for recognition of their union. Seventy shops are closed. Seventeen shops, employing 250 men have agreed to recognize the union.

GROSSCUP'S IDEA.

Supremacy of Political Party With a Settled Policy.

Chicago, April 19.—The supremacy of "some political party with a settled policy regarding the great corporations of the country" has been declared by Judge Peter S. Grosscup to be the means of escape from "an impending transformation in the ideals lying at the foundation of a republican form of government."

Speaking before the Chicago Congregational club at its monthly dinner at the Auditorium on "The church, the state and the individual," the jurist declared himself a friend of the "honestly managed corporation," while deploring that "the individualism of thirty years ago has been lost in vast mergers of capital."

The platform of his proposed new political party was outlined by the speaker as follows:

Recognition of the fact that the corporation is "here to stay" and cannot be driven out by a "mad dog" policy.

A demand that the capitalization of a corporation shall represent its assets.

Insistence that the great seal of a state shall not be employed to sanction the existence of institutions "born bankrupt."

Restrictions on the organization of corporations "of the lower order" offering "ground floor" privileges to a few stockholders.

The subjection of all corporations to the government supervision.

"The dishonest corporation as an institution of this country will never be broken up until some such policy has been adopted by a courageous, high-minded political party, and no such party will ever take it up until it is assured of favorable public sentiment," said Judge Grosscup.

DEMOCRATS MEET AT HARRISBURG.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 19.—The democratic state convention is being held here to-day to select presidential electors at large and delegates to the national convention to be held at New York city to-morrow. The delegates to the New York state convention, which was held yesterday and which strongly instructed its delegation to vote for Parker, it has been decided beforehand that the sixty-eight national delegates should not be instructed for any particular candidate. They will, however, be bound by the unit rule.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 19.—Friends of Judge Parker received a setback here to-day at the democratic state convention. An effort to have a resolution instructing the delegates to the national convention by the committee on resolutions, was unsuccessful.

STRIKERS IN POSSESSION OF TOWN OF GARRETT.

Somerset, Pa., April 19.—The striking coal miners are reported as having taken possession of the town. Armed men are said to be patrolling the streets, and a mob, armed with rifles and shotguns, is said to have surrounded the works of the Garrett Coal Co. The excitement is intense. Terror has seized the law abiding citizens of the town. It is feared that there will be a serious outbreak between the strikers and the miners stationed in the company's barracks. The latter are nearly all Italians and are said to be armed and prepared for an attack.

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 19.—The Democrats of Pennsylvania at their annual convention in this city made no declaration for any of the aspirants for president. The delegates to St. Louis will, however, be bound by the unit rule. The platform favors tariff revision, condemns secret treaties between this and another nation, with special reference to the Panama canal, and denounces President Roosevelt's ostentatious display at the White House, comparing his administration with the Jeffersonian simplicity of the Democracy.

ANOTHER DECISION.

Circuit Court Denies Application.

E. H. Harriman et al Are Prevented From "Butting In"—Judge Thayer Delivered the Opinion of the Court.

St. Paul, Minn., April 19.—In the United States circuit court to-day Judges Sanborn, Thayer, Van Devanter and Hook unanimously denied the application of E. H. Harriman and W. S. Pierce and the Oregon Short Line Railroad Co for leave to intervene in the case of the United States against the Northern Securities Co on the following grounds:

First. The plan of the directors of the Northern Securities Co for the distribution of the stock of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific Railroad companies is not violative of the decree in the Northern Securities case.

Second. No one but the United States can successfully appeal to the court to enjoin the execution of that plan on the ground that it is in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act, and the United States expresses satisfaction with the present decree.

Third. The stock of the two railway companies is not in the custody of the court.

Fourth. An intervention is not necessary to enable the petitioners to protect any pecuniary interest or equity they have.

Judge Thayer delivered the opinion of the court, the formal entry of which is as follows:

The application of Edward H. Harriman, William S. Pierce and the Oregon Short Line Railroad Co for leave to intervene in this case was heard before this court on April 12 and 13, 1904, and after due consideration it is hereby ordered that the said application be and the same is hereby denied.

THE BUDGET.

Reading of it Filled the House of Commons This Morning.

London, April 19.—The widespread interest in the presentation of the budget to-day was evidenced by the crowded state of the house of commons. Long before the chancellor of the exchequer, Austen Chamberlain, rose to make his statement, every part of the house was filled. Joseph Chamberlain was present to hear his son, and a mob, armed with rifles and shotguns, is said to have surrounded the works of the Garrett Coal Co. The excitement is intense. Terror has seized the law abiding citizens of the town. It is feared that there will be a serious outbreak between the strikers and the miners stationed in the company's barracks. IN THE COURTS.

Hoffman Divorce Suit on To-Day--Botelle Wants Damages.

Judge Thayer to-day began hearing court cases in the superior court, the last of the jury business having been disposed of last Friday. The case of Truman v. Smith went over also. The only case ready was John W. Hoffman vs. Katie Moran Hoffman, a contested suit and a cross suit for divorce. In Hoffman's case cruelty and infidelity were alleged and in his wife's case cruelty alone was said to be the disturbing element. Attorney McGrath appeared for Hoffman and Attorney Seery for Mrs. Hoffman. The parties were married on October 8, 1891, and two children were born. The parentage of the last, which yelled as only a baby can yell when it ought not to yell, when court opened yelled itself in its mother's arms to blissful unconsciousness of the contention waging around it. The other child, a girl of about ten years, sat near Mrs. Hoffman.

Dr. E. W. McDonald testified to the birth of the child taking place August 21, 1903.

Hoffman was the next witness. He said he has been employed by the Springfield Electric Car Manufacturing Co during the past two years. Twice he left his wife. He objected to her keeping company with other women and on the occasion of the birth of the first child seriously objected to the presence of her brother in the house. On account of being of different religious persuasion he could not get along with his brother-in-law and told his wife one of them would have to leave the house and he left.

His second departure was occasioned by her cruelty. She struck him with a chair, he said. He was afraid of her and one morning while at breakfast she stood behind him with a knife in her hand. On March 10, 1903, he returned to town, but did not stay. Since he went away in 1902 he has been sending her $2 a week by order of the court. She charged him with unfaithfulness.

Bessie Kinon, Elmer Clairmont and several others, testified for the complainant. Clairmont is a fellow worker of Hoffman.

The witnesses for the defense were Mrs. Hoffman, her sister, Mrs. Mary Clarke, and May, Mrs. Hoffman's daughter.

Mrs. Hoffman got beyond the control of her counsel in her indignation at the accusation, and her daughter May was a strong witness for her.

Mrs. Hoffman denied she was ever at Mrs. Kinon's house and in this she was supported by May, but Mrs. Kinon and her husband said she was frequently there, sometimes two or three times a day. The Hoffmans and the Kinons lived at 449 West Main street.

Regarding Mrs. Hoffman's allegation of cruelty she told of various alleged incidents. Hoffman based his evidence on the entries in a number of diaries which he has been keeping for some years.

The court said it was an unfortunate marriage and that the evidence of May, the little daughter, was unreliable because of her age. The evidence of the Kinons, on the other hand, seemed to be conclusive. Hoffman seemed to be a weak kneed man. His leaving his wife after the first child was born indicated that he was a cold, worthless fellow. Evidently both would be better off separated; that the children would be so there could be no question.

A decree was granted Hoffman.

In the district court to-day Judge Cowell heard the case of John D. Botelle, an auctioneer, against the League of Boston for $2,000 damages. Mr. Botelle's claim was that while walking through Bristol one evening some time ago, he stepped into a hole in the street, sprained his right ankle, hurt his knee and received other injuries that cost him a good deal in money for doctors and medicine, while the cost to his feelings in pain and his consequent inability to attend to his business could scarcely be reckoned.

The defense was that the borough of Bristol is not responsible for accidents that occur on its streets, for it is responsible only for the care of the sidewalks, and that the culvert or bridge through which Mr. Botelle's foot went was put up by a private party.

NEW YORK COURTS GET PLANT MILLIONS

Judge Cleveland Transfers Jurisdiction from Connecticut--This is the Case in Which Several Waterbury People Are Interested--They Are Agreeable to the Change--The Estate Has Been the Subject of Litigation for a Long Time.

New Haven, April 19.—The petition of the heirs of the late millionaire, Henry B. Plant, asking that the balance of his estate, amounting to over $16,500,000, be transferred from Connecticut to the jurisdiction of New York courts, was to-day granted by Judge Cleveland of the probate court.

The Plant estate has been a subject of litigation in one form or another in the Connecticut courts for a long time. At one time the removal of jurisdiction to the New York courts, which was desired by the Plant heirs, including Mrs. Margaret Plant, the widow, Morton F. Plant, son of the deceased, and George F. Tilley of Darien, was objected to by Charles E. Emma J. and Horace G. Hoadley, all of Waterbury, who contended in the superior court that those interested would be prejudiced by the transfer to New York. Later, however, the Hoadleys joined in a petition to the probate court asking for the transfer in harmony with the executors.

This petition is answered by the present decision which says in effect that since the decree of the court made on June 28, 1899, probating the will of Henry Bradley Plant as a resident of New Haven, the supreme court of the state of New York in an action brought by Mrs. Plant, has decided that Mr. Plant died a resident of and domiciled in the city of New York. The question of the domicile of the deceased, says the decision, is involved in the determination of the final distribution of his personal estate. Willett's Appeal, 50 Conn. 38, is authority for the proposition that in the consideration of the question of domicile in this connection the judgment of the supreme court in the state of New York is conclusive upon courts or probate in this state rather than their own previous decisions upon the same question of domicile in connection with the probate of the will or the grant of letters of administration. The executors, on February 10, 1902, filed an account showing that after the payment of all claims against the deceased, the expenses of settlement and the succession tax of $88,348.52 to the state of Connecticut, there remained in their hands a balance of $16,500,214.46. Upon the authority of that fact, I feel bound to order that the balance of the property in the hands of the executors with all accumulations thereof be henceforth held and managed by them under and subject to the orders and control of the surrogate's court for the county of New York.

"This position is taken notwithstanding the existence of certain contingent remainders in favor of the unborn issue of Morton F. Plant and Henry B. Plant, the infant, which would be valid under the laws of this state, but are void under the laws of New York."
